I. Evaluation for Environmental Preservation Measures

In order to aspire to be a sustainable resource-recycling society, it is vital to provide products and technologies that contribute toward the protection of the global environment, reduce the load placed on the environment throughout a product's lifecycle, and reduce the load on the environment from business activities. Therefore, Fuji Electric places priority on suppliers who proactively implement environmental preservation activities.

A basic measure for environmental preservation is the configuration of an Environmental Management System by acquiring certification such as ISO14001 from a third-party organization. However, if there is no certification, evaluation is made according to our company's criteria. The evaluation method for suppliers is determined according to the following.

1. Evaluation of suppliers that have acquired Environmental Management System certification

Suppliers who have acquired Environmental Management System certification such as ISO14001 are evaluated as having environmental measures certified by a certification body. Be sure to mention that the certification has been acquired in (1) or (2) of "[Attachment 1] Supplier Survey of Environmental Preservation Measures".

2. Evaluation of suppliers that have not acquired Environmental Management System certification

Requirement items for Environmental Management System such as ISO14001 are evaluated using "[Attachment 1] Supplier Survey of Environmental Preservation Measures" in this document, which is a simplified form by Fuji Electric. Be sure to answer items (1) to (19) of "[Attachment 1] Supplier Survey of Environmental Preservation Measures".

II. Evaluation of Control Status for Chemical Substances Contained in Products

In order to comply with the restrictions for chemical substances contained in products such as the REACH regulation of the EU (REGULATION (EC) No 1907/2006 OF THE EUROPEAN PARLIAMENT AND OF THE COUNCIL), it is necessary for the whole supply chain to perform chemical substance control for each individual product. In particular, according to the RoHS directive (DIRECTIVE 2011/65/EU OF THE EUROPEAN PARLIAMENT AND OF THE COUNCIL), the CE marking obligation was added, so it became necessary to mention that controlled substances are not contained in the technical documents according to EN50581, etc., which has made control of chemical substances more important.

On the other hand, regarding control of chemical substances, JAMP published their “Guideline for chemical management in products (hereafter referred to as the “JAMP Guideline”), and Fuji Electric also recommends control according to this guideline. Conformity to the requirements of this JAMP Guideline is evaluated.

1. Measures for construction of a control system for chemical substances contained in products

The status of the self-conformance declaration stating that the supplier’s system meets the requirements of the JAMP Guideline is evaluated. The format for the self-conformance declaration is “[Attachment 3] Self-conformance declaration regarding the control system for chemical substances contained in products”. Be sure to report whether there is a self-conformance declaration.

2. Measures for control of chemical substances contained in products

The compliance status for the JAMP Guideline required item “[Attachment 4] Implementation Item List & Check Sheet for control of chemical substances contained in products” is evaluated. Be sure to report the conformance status.
